ELIZABETH CITY:

TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 6, 1858.

FOR GOVERNOR:
HON. JOHN W. ELLIS,
OF ROWAN.

FOR SENATE:
JONATHAN W. ALBERTSON,
OF PERQUINANS.

FOR HOUSE OF COMMONS:
BENJAMIN F. WHITEHURST.
Election: Thursday, 6th of August.

CAMPAIGN PIONEER.

We will furnish the "Democratic Pioneer" from now until the election in August for 25 cents, invariably in advance. Send in your orders, friends, immediately; the canvass will be exciting, and we shall be found in the thick of the fight, battling to the best of our ability for the success of Democratic men and measures.

APPOINTMENTS.

Messrs. ALBERTSON and POOL, candidates for the Senate in this District, and Messrs. WILSON and NEWBY, candidates for the House of Commons in Perquinians, will address the people of that County, at the following places and times:

Woolville, Tuesday, July 13th.
New Hope, Wednesday, " 14th.
Riddick's Store, Friday, " 16th.
Newby's Bridge, Saturday, " 17th.
Bethel, Friday, " 23d.
Goodwin's School House, Saturday, " 24th.
Hertford, Saturday, " 31st.

THE ANNIVERSARY.

The celebration of our National birth-day took place in this town on Monday, and was ushered in by a national salute. At 11 o'clock quite a large crowd had gathered beneath the shade of the huge old oaks that stand in the open space west of the Baptist Church, where preparations had been made for their accommodation, to listen to the reading of the Declaration of Independence and an anniversary oration.

The proceedings were opened with prayer appropriate to the occasion by the Rev. F. J. Boggs.

Charles G. Elliott, the reader of the day, then arose, and in a calm, clear, and distinct voice proceeded to the discharge of the duty assigned him. We cannot speak too highly of the manner in which our young friend acquitted himself, and we utter but the general sentiment of all who heard it, when we say that the reading of this great paper was accomplished in a way that did ample justice to the spirit of its illustrious author.

At the conclusion of the reading of the Declaration, Dr. Jno T. P. C. Cohoon, the orator of the occasion, appeared before the audience, and entertained them with an address, replete with originality, beautiful thoughts, and patriotic sentiments, which was listened to with marked attention by all present. We believe this was Dr. Cohoon's first appearance before a public assembly, but his perfect self command and freedom from embarrassment satisfied the hearer that he understood his business, and was prepared to sustain himself. That he did so, we need not again affirm. After benediction the crowd dispersed, hoping to meet for years to come in honoring an occasion that had given us a name and an existence as a nation.

A cotton party at the Leigh House at night closed the ceremonies.

A SERENADE.

The "young Americans" of the town, unwilling to follow in the footsteps of their old foggy dads, and begin the celebration of the national anniversary with the rising of the sun, took time by the forelock, and were out in considerable numbers by 1 o'clock on Monday morning, provided with a pretty general assortment of noise making instruments. We were aroused from a quiet slumber by the most unearthly din, immediately beneath our window, that ever saluted mortal ears. Drums, whistles, horns, tin pans, bells, and an infernal gong, were all brought into requisition and the physical powers of the performers exerted to their utmost to get out the melody that was in them. Jupiter! was there ever such a combination of terrific sounds made to disturb a peaceable being? Fortunately, we were not made to endure them for more than an hour at the time, the long 'uns leaving to give our neighbors a touch of their musical talent.

At night, the "Californians" again brought out their instruments, and this turn out beat the first one all hollow. Besides the instruments used in the morning, a large bell was drawn in a cart, which, together with drums, fife, cymbals, horns, etc., created a noise the like of which was never before heard by mortal man.

The procession marched through town, headed by the whole-souled Captain, whose cocked-hat and plume could be seen above the crowd, as with sword in hand he gave orders to his followers. Altogether, the fourth passed off very pleasantly, and we suppose to the satisfaction of all. Long live the memory of this day in the heart of every American! and long life to "Cap'n" C., say we.

HEALTH OF SENATOR SUMNER.—A gentleman of Boston has received a private letter from one of the most distinguished physicians in France, which states that upon consultation by the leading doctors in that empire, relative to the case of Senator Sumner, who is now in Paris, it has been decided to perform an operation upon the back, for the purpose of producing a counter-irritation.

If this "operation upon the back" is performed with a gutta percha instrument, we think the country, if not Senator Sumner, would be materially gratified.

Our thanks are tendered to the Hon. T. L. Clingman for valuable public documents; also, to the Hon. David S. Reid for the Report of the Secretary of the Interior.

GOVERNMENT EXPENDITURES.

The extravagance of the present administration has formed the chief complaint of the opposition for some time back. Knowing the antipathy of the people to wasteful expenditures, this bug-bear of extravagance is invariably paraded before them and made to appear in its most hideous and frightful garb. What matters it if the whole thing is an invention, so that the object is attained? What care these aspiring tricksters for the means provided the people are duped and made to believe that this creation of their own is a veritable reality? They aim at power; an unscrupulous disregard of the instruments to secure it characterizes their course. They seek office, little caring how far truth, justice, and fairness are sacrificed to obtain their desires. Personal reputation or national integrity present no barrier to the ambition of these place-loving demagogues; but both are battered down with a zeal worthy the best cause.

JUDGE ELLIS.

We stated in an article last week that from the information received from all sections of the State, we believed that our candidate would be elected by the largest majority given for any man for many years. We repeat the opinion now in the face of the assertions and calculations of our opponents, who think, or pretend to think, that McRae has a chance of an election. Admitting the sincerity of the declaration we cannot for the life of us see upon what it is based. It is well known that he will not receive the strength of the party that has endorsed him, and the number of Democratic votes which he will get will be but a drop in the bucket compared with those cast for Judge Ellis by "Americans." We are disposed to regard the heralded prospect of his success as the same old game of "brag," gotten up for effect, and which no reflecting man can credit for a moment. We all remember the way our Know-Nothing friends are victorious—always before an election, but rarely when the election takes place. They are some on paper, but scarce at the polls. So it will be in August.

Judge Ellis will be the next Governor of North Carolina. And well done he deserves it, not only for his eminent ability and capacity to fill the place with credit to his State and honor to himself, but for the gallant manner in which he has sustained the principles of his party in a contest, with an opponent, said to be one of the first intellects among us. He has met this tried and valiant chief, and more than once forced him to the wall. Standing firmly upon the platform of the Democracy, and upholding the principles there enunciated, without deviating or wavering for a moment, he has traveled the best portion of the State, proclaiming openly and above board his opinions and sentiments, declaring in the West the same views that he promulgated in the East. None have been left in doubt that have heard him. There is no concealment of opinions from the public. What he tells them at one place, he has the boldness to maintain in another. Thus upon the subject of internal improvements he is understood and his position clearly defined. That position none can object to. He is fully committed against new works, but will favor such appropriations as are necessary to complete those already commenced. The most violent anti-slavery man would find nothing in this to arouse his opposition. Rather than see the money already invested sunk and the works decay, and the State lose the advantage yet to accrue from their completion, the aid requisite to carry them on will be cheerfully given. Judge Ellis is opposed to the Danville connection, whilst Mr. McRae favors it. The Democratic candidate stands in open and undisguised hostility to this scheme to benefit Virginia at the expense of his own State; to build up a rival interest by pulling down that in which North Carolina has invested immense sums. And this is what will be done—should ever this Danville connection be made. Virginia is alive to the importance of this work to her, and if allowed to do so, will build the road. Mr. McRae is the friend of this measure, but says if elected, he will not recommend it. He has given, and will continue to give, his influence to it, and though he should not recommend it in his message, if elected, he would be at liberty to operate upon members of the Legislature to secure the passage of a bill in its favor. Will Eastern men seek to elevate a man who is thus willing to give Virginia the means to drain North Carolina? We cannot think so.

Mr. McRae whilst in the East was understood to be opposed to any further increase of the State debt for the prosecution of works of internal improvement. A change came over the spirit of his dream as he advanced Westward; a slight alteration in his views took place as he neared the region where the popular sentiment ran in a different channel, and he is now willing to increase the "burden of taxation" by aiding the immediate completion of the Western Extension. Upon this point we subjoin the remarks of the Wilmington Journal, that our readers may see the position of Mr. McRae at this time. The Journal says:

Regular appropriations for the service of the year 1859.

Pension,	$769,500 00

64,434,364 87

Estimate:

Other appropriations, bills not printed and indefinite, including all private bills, 8,565,635 87

68,000,000 00

This reduces, it will be seen, the regular appropriations for the services of the year 1859 to something less than $25,500,000 a very satisfactory exhibit when we reflect that the opposition are about arranging for a campaign against the Democratic party on the double ground of its extravagance, and upon the old maxim of protection.

NAVAL AND MILITARY PREPARATIONS OF FRANCE.

[From the London Times.]

France is undoubtedly arming on a scale, with a method, a system, and a deliberation, truly formidable to all her neighbors—whether, like ourselves, they have the good fortune to be sheltered from the impending storm under the unbrawny branches of an entente cordiale—whether, like Belgium, Piedmont and Spain, in the consciousness of their inability to resist, they listen with no unreasonable trepidation for the first blow of the coming tempest,—or whether, like Austria, they know not how soon they may be compelled to fight for their dominions against a brave and well-disciplined enemy. France is certainly arming, and arming both by land and sea. Her army, already large, is undergoing considerable increase. She is just on the point of completing a railway which connects all her military stations with the fortifications of Cherbourg, a port constructed at enormous pains and at vast expense, and possessing every facility that skill can devise for the simultaneous embarkation of very large bodies of troops. France is, besides, busily engaged in the construction of a great steam fleet, armed and propelled on the very best and newest principles at present developed by the art of war; she is gathering up her colossal strength, and would appear to be on the eve of some vast enterprise, as the emigrants every month or so—and that they will not, being either asleep or demented, ask the general government for some lands. If they would only ask for them! "There's the rub." Of course they would, but, oh, their stupidity!—Mr. Syme is greeted it is, as Mr. McRae's agent, to announce these facts to the world!

Federalism has always been kind and considerate in its attentions to the people.

Front the days of John Adams until now it has invariably sought to take care of the people, to instruct and enlighten them, and to protect them against themselves. It would do so now, here in North Carolina. It considers that the people are ignorant—that they do not know that the taxes are ruining them—that thousands of them make their escape as emigrants every month or so—and that they will not, being either asleep or demented, ask the general government for some lands. THE OBSERVER AND MR. McRAE.

The Fayetteville Observer, which took some time since for Mr. McRae, comes forward to say it can no longer
support him, and that it has no candidate
for Governor.
The Observer's main reason for abandoning him, and that it has no candidate for the election, is as follows:
We could have stood Mr. McRae's immoral scheme of aid to the Western [Coastal] Road, for we feel assured he is sincere in it. But we could not bear his poisoning the public mind (we use the term in a offensive sense) by eloquent speeches against State aid and taxation—including, of course, a full stop to our system nothing can be done—(excepting, as we do, the Western Railroad)—without the aid.

The Observer does not believe with Mr.
McRae, that the State is in a "chronic down," and the Observer will not support McRae for Governor. We will give Observer's remarks in full in our next.
This at once knocks one of the best spokes
of Mr. McRae's wheel. The Observer
is a decided influence in Cumberland, Sampson, Richmond, Moore, Gumtow, Stanly, Chatham, and Ransford; and this movement of that paper deprive Mr. McRae of at least one and votes which he would otherwise receive.—Standard.

HOW GOES THE STATE?
take occasion to say to our friends,
some of whom we have received information on the subject, that our information from the campaign from all portions of the State is the most encouraging character.

Democratic candidate and the opositor Know Nothing candidate for Governor have now canvassed a considerable portion of the State, and we can, therefore, form some reliable idea of the
which have been produced, and base that a calculation of the result.

Ellis has steadily gained from the entered the field, and Mr. McRae is steadily lost. Judge Ellis, in our will defeat Mr. McRae by a large margin than any which has been given to the people who have elected the Governor.

The Democrats, we think, are certain to secure a majority in the Senate and seventy Commoners which would give them majority in the Senate and twenty majority in the Senate, or thirty on joint ballot; and this we claim of reliable, unfinching Democrats. The majority on joint ballot above calculation we have included in Senatorial Districts or Counties that are absolutely certain.—Standard.

ALVIN, ROSE &amp; CAPPS

ALVIN, ROSE & CAPPS respectfully inform our friends, customers, and the public generally, that for their extensive assortment of GENERAL HARDWARE, a large portion of which was imported with a special view to the Fall and Winter wholesale trade, and the Merchant, Mechanic and Farmer, will bear in mind, that under the circumstances of our not being able to make our usual full sales our assortment of Hardware, can be purchased on reasonable terms, at greatly reduced prices. Call and examine for your selves.

LIVERY STABLES.

I RETURN MY SINCERE THANKS to my friends and the public generally for the liberal patronage heretofore extended to me, and ask a continuance of the same. I shall always keep on hand fine horses, &c., for hire, and also board horses either by the single meal, weekly, monthly, or year.

It will be my pleasure to accommodate and oblige those who may favor me with their patronage, and therefore will always be prepared to furnish good horses and vehicles.

LIVERY STABLES.

AT HOME AGAIN.

THE SUBSCRIBER would most respectfully inform his friends and the public generally that he has again taken the charge of the Stable formerly occupied by Mr. H. H. Lamb, in the possession of Messrs. Hutton & Lamb, where he will keep for hire horses either in harness or saddle, and vehicles of every description upon the most reasonable terms. He is also prepared to board horses by the single meal, weekly, monthly, or yearly. Having been proprietor of these stables before, it is needless to say one word in reference to his attention to horse care in his care. Upon that subject he is well known.

Persons putting up their horses at the stables, will have their baggage converted to either of the hotels, or any where else in town free of charge.
